INSPECTOR MISSY SILCOX – 2015 EMPLOYEE OF THE YEAR

Lexington, S.C. (February 2, 2016) – Chief Terrence Green is pleased to announce that Inspector Missy Silcox was chosen as the recipient of the "Art Rish – Employee of the Year" award for 2015.

Inspector Missy Silcox has been with the Lexington Police Department since 2009 where she began her work as an officer within the Patrol Division. Two and a half years ago she was assigned to the Office of Professional Standards where she earned the rank of Inspector. Her responsibilities within the Office of Professional Standards include internal affairs, policy oversight and maintaining CALEA accreditation.

Chief Terrence Green says that "Inspector Missy Silcox was vital in our Agency's reaccreditation and has been able to continue the necessary upkeep required for the very difficult and tedious process required for accreditation. Despite several personal challenges she has faced this year, she has always been able to give her duties as an Inspector all of the necessary time and focus."

Inspector Missy Silcox was presented with this award at the annual Lexington Police Department awards ceremony in December and then was recognized by Town of Lexington Council at their monthly meeting on Monday, February 1, 2016.

Inspector Missy Silcox holds a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice degree from Methodist University in Fayetteville, North Carolina. She is married and has two young children.
